

Stock Market Antakshari

Jo sharam kam karega, ussko points zyaadaa milega!

This is not a singing competition. This is not a dancing competition. It is a madness competition.

The audience is seated in a square — three teams on three sides, a live band on the fourth. The entire centre becomes an open dance floor, and one team at a time gets unleashed onto it.

Nobody needs to know how to sing. You start the song; the live band picks it up instantly, follows you, supports you, and makes you sound like a professional.

Points are instant, unpredictable and completely volatile. The crazier the performance, the higher the stock. Sabotage the team performing and your stock crashes. Nobody knows who is winning until the very end.
